

LIGHT FROM THE CHURCH ON THE HILL

GROWING UP: EDUCATION AND THE WAR ON CHILDHOOD

Dr. Jesse Cone is the head of the Saint Constantine School in Pittsburgh, which opened its doors for its first incoming classes in August, 2024. The Saint Constantine School—"Education in Pursuit of Virtue, Wisdom and Joy"—is dedicated to providing a formational education that is engaging, rigorous, and in harmony with the Eastern Orthodox Church. In his talk, Dr. Cone will share some theological and cultural observations about the nature of education and what Christians are called to embrace today. For more information about the school, please see their website, pittsburgh.saintconstantine.org.

The Saint Constantine School (TSCS) is opening a new branch in Pittsburgh in 2024, expanding its commitment to classical, Christian education. Founded in Houston in 2016, it has become one of the largest Orthodox Christian schools in the U.S. with over 550 students. TSCS aims to provide a comprehensive, engaging, and rigorous education aligned with Eastern Orthodox Church traditions, preparing students for service to the Church and society.
